

Site Policy

This website is operated and managed by Lift Plan Co., and its group companies (hereinafter the "Lift Plan").

Please read and understand the following terms of use (hereinafter the "Terms of Use") regarding the use of this website.

By using this website, you are considered that you have accepted the Terms of Use.

The Terms of Use of this website may be amended without prior notice, and you are kindly requested to use this website after the confirmation of the latest amendment.

1. Copyrights

Copyrights to all of the contents (texts, graphics, programs, contents of e-mails, etc.) posted on this website are the sole properties of the Lift Plan or other producers of those contents.

The use of the contents (including reproduction, alteration, transmission, delivery, grant of license, selling, publication and use for commercial purposes) for purposes other than the nonprofit or personal purpose or beyond the extent authorized by applicable laws are prohibited unless approved by the Lift Plan in advance.

2. Trademarks

Trademarks, the rights contained in but not limited to logos and marks, related to goods and services posted on this website and the right to use such trademarks are the sole properties of the Lift Plan. It is prohibited to produce any website, goods and works using these logos and marks which wrongfully imply that it is related to the Lift Plan's goods or services.

3. Access to This Website

The access to this website is limited only to browsing the contents of the website provided by the Lift Plan. Regardless of the purpose, it is strictly prohibited to have access or attempt to have access to any area of the Lift Plan's computer system or information contained in such system.

4. Use of Cookie and Google Analytics

Lift Plan may collect information about your access to this web site by using Cookie and Google Analytics. For more information on use of Cookie and Google Analytics, please refer to "Personal Information Protection Policy" of this website.

5. Linked Sites

The contents of any third party's website linked from or to this website (hereinafter the "linked site") should be managed by such third party, and therefore, the Lift Plan has no authority to control the linked site. Please use the linked site in accordance with the terms of use provided by such third party.

The Lift Plan assumes no responsibility for complaints or claims for damages arising from the contents of the linked site or use of such contents.

Any link to the linked site does not assume any warranty or recommendation by the Lift Plan to the linked site or its contents, and any special relation between the Lift Plan and the linked site.

6. Opinions and Proposals

Your opinions and proposals posted on this website will be handled under the understanding that you have agreed to accept the following conditions.

1. The Lift Plan assumes no responsibility of confidentiality, evaluation, adaptation or response for the information provided by you.
2. The Lift Plan may disclose, reproduce the information provided by you, and is free to use it for the manufacture, development and sales of the Company's products.
3. In the case that Lift Plan used the contents of such provided information in part or in whole, it does not assume any responsibility to the provider of such information, including the responsibility to compensate such provider.

7. Disclaimer

The Lift Plan handles information to be posted on this website with the greatest care. However, the Lift Plan expressly disclaims its responsibility for any error with regard to the correctness, accuracy, safety or usefulness of such information.

Further, the Lift Plan assumes no responsibility for identity of any information distributed by the Lift Plan including such case that the information was undelivered to your computer system.

Further, the Lift Plan assumes no responsibility for losses, delayed delivery or wrong transmission of information caused by a line disorder, natural disaster, system failure, virus or malfunction of equipment, and damages caused by falsification or leakage of information by third parties.

The Lift Plan expressly disclaims any warranty concerning the contents posted on this website.

Please note that any contents posted on this website may be changed or suspended without prior notice.

8. Governing Law

This website may be accessed from various countries governed by different laws. Unless otherwise specifically provided, both you accessing to this website and the Lift plan shall agree to be bound by laws of Japan with regard to the use of this website.